

Cultural, Literary and Postcolonial Studies

Explore expression far beyond the UK, towards the ever-evolving and ever-engaging regions of Asia, Africa, and the Middle East.

Our appreciation of the aesthetics, literature, and culture of Asia, Africa, and the Middle East is limitless. Our unique approach is vital for students who want to look more deeply and broadly at non-European cultures and literatures. We've nurtured a truly diverse and cross-cultural environment for decades. And today, we're more active than ever in debates surrounding these changing regions.

Our research culture is thriving too. At SOAS, you'll learn from and engage with expert scholars from across social science disciplines – people who play a key role in the critical and theoretical debate of comparative literature, and cultural and postcolonial studies. It brings a vibrancy to our teaching – and opportunities to take part in events, seminars, workshops, training, or even significant staff projects. We'll inspire you to instigate research on non-European cultures and literatures, as well as exciting new debates.

At SOAS, you'll be supported by a strong academic team, and study with a cross-section of people with interests in everything from gendering violence, transnational migration, and Tamil literature, to Christian-Jewish relations and Sinology in Europe.

Courses:

- MA Comparative Literature
- MA Cultural Studies
- MA Postcolonial Studies
- MPhil/PhD in Cultural, Literary and Postcolonial Studies

Duration:

- 1 year full time (OR)
- 2-3 years part time

You'll need:

- 2:ii or equivalent

Potential careers:

- Communications
- Journalism
- Market research
- Mission director
- Parliament
- Researcher

More information:

- ▶ soas.ac.uk/cclps

