

History of Art and Archaeology

From ancient times to the present day, our coverage of the arts, archaeology, and architecture of Asia, Africa, and the Middle East is truly unique.

SOAS is the only place in the world that offers such specialist expertise on Asia, Africa and the Middle East - and beyond. Our collections are unparalleled. Our teaching staff are world renowned. Our concentration of research specialists can't be matched in the UK. And there are no other equivalent MA programmes, anywhere.

Our programme is structured, and bolstered by elected modules – of which there are plenty to choose from. Teaching is varied too, including lectures, seminar discussions, and museum and gallery visits to the huge range of iconic institutions across London. For example, The British Library and British Museum are both on our doorstep, adding to the 1.3m volumes in our own enviable library collection.

With many of our students from Asia, Africa, and the Middle East, our students' diverse perspectives combine with the unrivalled expertise of our staff. It adds richness to our programmes, and a deeper understanding of the cultures that have shaped art, architecture, and other creative outputs around the globe.
